Latest from Chile.

Valparaiso, July 26th 1862.

The members of the new cabinet have at last taken possession of their respective portfolios on the 4th inst. On that same day the resignation of the retiring ministers were accepted.

There is only one feeling throughout the country in regard to the new cabinet.

Every one seems to the confident of their success. We earnestly and most sincerely join our best wishes to those of the nation in this respect.

The President has requested from Congress, by a special message on the 24th ult. to make the port of Coronel a first class port, stating that trade has considerably increased at that place, since it was made a dependency of the port of Talcahuano in 1852. The export of coal which at that time barely reached 2,348 tons, valued at 26,742 dollars, amounted last year to 168,010 tons, worth 840,060 dollars, besides 200, 000 lbs. copper bars, assessed at 178,808 dollars, and 572,833 brick worth 20,048 dollars, thus making an export trade of no less than 1,039,216 dollars. Meantime the imports amounted last year to 579,623 dollars.

The Senate, as we anticipate has not approved of the project for the establishment of a National Bank.

Business at Concepcion does not appear very favorable. The sales of wheat on the last fortnight of June were about 18,000 fanegas at from 3 dollars 12 r. to 3 dollars 28 r. About 1,000 to 1,200 lbs. flour or 6d. during the same period at 3 dollars 87 c. each for 100 lbs.

The Toledo a sailed from Tomé for Callao with a cargo of 9,000 fanegas wheat about the end of last month.

The exports from Tomé for the last fifteen days of June were about 12,000 fanegas wheat and 100,000 lbs flour.

By the English ship Oliver Cromwell from Adelaide we have files from Australia to May 24th. Flour was selling at 17 pounds sterling for choice, and 14 for common brands.

The English steamer Talca of 412 tons from Liverpool in 58 days, by way of Cape Verde. Montevideo and Strait of Magallan, arrived at this port on the evening of the 2nd inst. in the service of the mails and transport of our Southern coast from here to Port Monte

Captain Raussan of the French ship Stejabert Georges, from Rio Janeiro, in 43 days, reports that the French man of war Bayard, as having returned to said port, after having left for France and found out at sea that the date on the dispatches which caused her return from the Straits of Magallan, was of a more serious character than anticipated. The Indus of 1,000 tons is said to be made deeper, so as to enable her to be repaired there.

The French transport Eyeris was expected soon on her way to this port, The admiral of the Bayard and his Staff intended to come in her, in case that the refitting of said vessel would take any considerable length of time.

SUNDAY. SEPTEMBER 7th. 1862.

Wanted a Newspaper.

For some time back we have noticed the little importance attached to the Press, in official quarters, contrary to the usages of civilised nations. Government seemed to doubt our assertion that it is the strongest element in a free country, and the late circular defeat of the Ministry is a striking proof of this truth. A "Tribuna" cabinet remarked to us, the other day, "you have the people, the Government, the foreign body, and the Congress for capitalization; but we have the majority of intellect and the most active men, on our side." And in truth, if the Press of a country be its "standard" of literary worth, if the Opposition deserves praise for its success in winning by a single vote, in face of such great moral odds, the Government must admit the saying of the "Tribuna" and ascribe the loss of the Capital in the Provincial Senate to the want of a public print, that would reward zeal.

In every state there is a Ministerial paper, and here in Buenos Ayres we have received the official journal as such, until we find it, in direct hostility to Government. During the Carril regime, the people had no organ except the "Nacion" to express the views of their rulers, and being unable to read a foreign tongue, were afflicted with tirades against their liberal principios. So great a deficiency our colleague make in his Tuchero articles, that a petition bearing, we are told, 2,000 signatures, has been got up to pledge merchants and traders not to take the "Nacion" Argentino" for the loss of some hundreds of subscribers, this would be a "moral triumph", shewing the universal importance attached to that paper.

Meantime, at the eleventh hour, the friends of Government see the absolute necessity of having a Capitalist native organ, and we hear of the "Nation Argentina" to be started, on the largest sheet, next week: 1,000 subscribers being already enrolled, the prospects of our new colleague are highly brilliant, and import serious loss to the other printing houses. We confess our sympathy in favor of the former, and wish him every success.

But, it cannot be doubted that the finest opportunity for beginning such a paper is after a lively past, and the great object lost. If the Government had sooner reflected on the utility of the Press they should not have to lament the loss of the Capital and of the prime-minister. The "Nacion Argentina" is sadly wanted, but it strikes us as if it were "locking the stable when the horse is gone" to give us the idea of Government on Federal rule after it has exploded in the Provincial Senate. If our colleague speak the sentiments of the people, we have no objection to its harmony with the views of Government. He must, however, bear in mind that its native colleagues have mistaken private for public opinion, and that his polar star should not not be the applause of ridiculous Government patronage, nor party-spirit, but the sound feeling and real prosperity of Buenos Ayres in particular, and also of the whole "Argentine Nation"

Terrible sufferings at sea.

The crew of the British barque "Cubana", whose loss by fire we noticed in a former date, have arrived at the Falkland Islands after the most awful sufferings. The vessel was bound from Calderas (Chili) to Swansea with a cargo of copper: on the night of June 20, lat. 54 S long. 59 W. she was discovered on fire, by the 1st mate David Hopkins, and every effort failing to get the flames under, the crew abandoned her at 11 P. M. Two small boats, with 18 souls, were thus left on the wide ocean, with 5 lbs of biscuits, 4gls of water, some fr. 5 pork, two pigs, a compass, to each boat and lamp. After two days of snow and tempest, during which all felt their limbs swelling enormously, some having left the ship in their shirt and drawers, the captain served out a ration of 1 oz of bread, a morsel of pork, and a cup of water. On the following day the smaller boat filled with water, and the occupants were rescued with difficulty. Two days more of privation obliged the sailors to drink salt water, and all were exhausted, when the 6th morning shewed them the desert Island of Diamonds. Here they rested after such unheard of toils, and luckily found some sea-fowls, which they ate raw. With difficulty they contrived to pull up the copper boat high and dry, making it serve for a covering against the snow. As soon as their limbs recovered sensibility, they experienced great agony, and were unable to move about. The mate found carpenter, alone, set out in search of food and found some marine animals. The tide rose, in a few days, and broke over them repeatedly. At this time they had undergone a depletable condition, their legs bursting in a frightful manner. On the 13th day after leaving the ship, death seemed to stare them in the face: the 2nd mate became insensible, and almost all hands were helpless. A terrible storm came on, July 4th, and the inmates of the boat, 13 in number, were carried by their comrades out to the top of the hill. On Sunday July 6th, they killed the two pigs and ate them, resolving on the morrow to embark in search of the Falkland Islands. Accordingly one of the crew, who were the strongest, were the boat left in charge of two others, the rest embarking in the boat, to the number of 7. Fortunately the wind was S and after passing a dangerous night, they beheld, next morning, to their inexpressible joy, the Falkland coast, calculating their distance from Port Stanley at 100 miles.

They coasted along the Island for 24 hours, and at 8 A. M. on Wednesday sighted a light house but were prevented from reaching the land, some 12 miles distant, by a strong gale of wind. At 11 A. M. a sail appeared making for them, and they rescued them from the horrors of their situation. They were placed in warm beds, and their legs bound up, so that they soon felt into a refreshing sleep, which they had not known for 19 days. The vessel was the "Perseverance," of Port Stanley, Nicoll, then employed in catching sea-wolves for Falkland Co. Steering for port, they fell in with the schooner "Victoria", whose captain, present, was informed that 11 individuals were still on the Boshem rock, and he at once set out to rescue them.

Doctor Hamelin paid every attention to the sufferers, as also Mr. Edwards, who were kindly treated at Port Stanley. On the 12th July, 9 days after the fire, the relics of Hopkins arrived safely and were buried in the usual funeral form. On the following day, George Elliott, one of the sailors, died, and two days later, another, Wm. Edwards. The doctor found it necessary to amputate the legs of several, in order to save their lives.

The American packet-boat "Fulton" has brought the captain and mate to Montevideo, en passage for England.

The crisis.

The position of Buenos Aires and the Argentine Republic is becoming more and more critical, each day bringing some fresh feature of affairs, to bear on the public or party feelings of any description, but nothing real solid, with an assurance of life to see a good permanent Government established, and a long period preserved, we come before the public to enunciate facts, which neither the government, nor the opposition can deny.

The house which is divided must fall, and the split which at present exists between the Provincial Chambers on the one hand and the Congress of the Nation on the other, is more destructive to the interests of the country than open rebellion itself,—which unhappily such dissensions exist.

When every public measure in the country is brought to a stand still; when the Executive not knowing which legislative power to obey is rendered useless; when this frightful state of affairs paralyzes the efforts of the Minister of Hacienda, in regulating his finances; when every succeeding days delay increases rather than diminishes the difficulties. What is to be done? We answer, appeal to the people. If the majority of the people in this city, the Capital, federalizing the whole province, let it be so, if, on the other hand, the minority seek to make Buenos Aires the capital, let it by all means let us send the Congress, once and for ever, away out of this.

Something must be done, and that quickly, for we have it from the very highest authority, the present state of affairs is creating inextricable confusion.

It is asserted, that 4/5ths of the population in this city, are in favor of the measure which their representatives have so summarily thrown out. Were such the case in England, a general election would immediately follow, and other men be put in the house to carry out the will of the people.

Here, however a few gentlemen, who will, on the federalization of this province, retire from public life, and become mere private citizens, refuse all party, and to a foreigner, as with unanimity evils, which none but themselves believe in.

Were there any probability of removing the Congress from this city? there might indeed be delay, but we have to see what becomes of the provincial Chamber, the Congress is sure to remain.

It seems however in vain to urge reasons upon some parties, therefore we will leave the matter but their own side of the question. the Government has therefore but one plain straightforward line of conduct to adopt, and that is, as we have said before, appeal to the people: delays are always dangerous, and the sooner they act about it, the sooner will this lamentable crisis be over.

Editor's table.

Strange rumors were throughout town yesterday, concerning the resignation of the Minister of Government, and ounces ran up considerably. Were these rumors confined to the Minister's resignation it would be of no effect but other resignations are also talked of which we sincerely hope are without the slightest foundation.

The Provincial Government owes a duty to the country and to the foreign body, to hold firmer now than ever, and we will not bring ourselves to believe that General Mitre will waver now. Gloomy as the prospect is, after the succession of the Pavon battle, if the reports which were rife yesterday, have any foundation.

The provincial Chamber are acting a ridiculous passive in trifling with the people, the country, the Congress and the Executive. We repeat that if the Government shows the white feather, no man can answer for the results.

Monday will be a feast-day, so consequently our readers will be without the "Standard" till Wednesday morning. In the meantime, should the Congress come on, we shall publish a supplement, which will be delivered at our subscribers' residences, the moment after printing.

Montevideo.

The Plata Independiente was being puffs I with fine trees given on evacuation by the Monte. Gonde, summoning, in their conveying it into a fine commander.

The same gentlemen had made similar donations to the cemetery which according to private accounts was assuming a very handsome and gay appearance.

The Republica has been enlarged and now appears in two sheets. Notwithstanding this increase of size there was no increase of original, the greater part of the paper being stale advertisements.

The Opera Company had announced Stabat Mater for Sunday.

A German composer Johan Knit for had committed suicide.

Three new nuns had entered the Salese convent of which two were natives of Montevideo and the other an Italian.

Buenos Aires British Library.

Adjourned General Meeting.

September 4th. 1862.

The adjourned meeting of this Institution was held on Thursday evening—Mr. J. Wells in the Chair.

The postponed question of raising the subscription was again brought before the Meeting, and after some little discussion—

It was moved by Mr. Forrester, seconded by Mr. Thomson. and carried by a large majority that the annual subscription be raised from 1008 to 2008 currency.

It was further moved by Mr Auchterlonie, seconded by Mr. Carroll, and carried unanimously, that on the annual payment of a subscription of 1008 currency, the Library and Reading-room be thrown open to country subscribers, without the privilege of taking out books.

The meeting then proceeded to the election of another Committee-man, in the place of Mr. Seymour, who had declined to accept office. The ballot resulted in favor of Mr. Macrae, and that gentleman was declared duly elected.

Mr Ramsay then addressed the Meeting at some length on the subject of the Rules of the Library, which he remarked admitted of considerable reforms, and many of which from various causes it was impossible to act up to.

It was then proposed by Mr. William son that the Committee should be empowered to amend the present Rules and Regulations, and submit the same in their amended form to a general meeting of the subscribers to be called in the first week of November. Mr. Moss seconded the motion, and on submitting it to the meeting, it was unanimously carried.

Fray Bentos.

September 5.

Several robberies have been committed. The Commissary and Dn Federico Hanschen (both Portenos) have been accused of stealing and hauled before the justice of Peace, yesterday both to religious and Dn Jose Cantera, Vinna On the third instant, at 12 o'clock at night, a house was set on fire in the land of Providence itself alone saved the whole premises from the flames: six persons were asleep in the house at the time, and it was also full of goods: it was a pulperia, and belonged to an Italian named Cappiza of the Port, a regular gentleman, had been conversing with a friend until that hour, and, before going to bed by chance saw the fire, at a distance of about 300 yards. One fell into a ditch, and the other got scratched with thorns. However, on arriving, the people were almost sleeping, at the door of the Mistresses, blankets, water, and a promptness to his applauded, got the fire under. The police were not to be found, and as yet have made no efforts to secure the person who have been denounced, one of whom is a policeman who robbed the same house, not a month since.

The whole town in quite indignant at the matter.

Brazilian men of war generally are stationed in Monte Video for instruction—in billiard playing &c.

Jockey Rece. A very interesting exposition of the cause of the decline of this trade and proposed remedies for its future, existence has been published by the Club Nacional of Montevideo. It is generally supposed to be the work of the talented lawyer Dr. Vice to Lopez.

After this exposition the Buenos Ayres committee have had nothing to say on the subject, and simply limited themselves to offer to join their works for the desired results.

It is possible we shall publish said exposition in our paper as it is of very great interest and reflects great credit on the authors.

Pavements. The Municipality have ordered the pavement of 40 squares, besides the Recoleta road.

Plaza Lorenzo. It is a great shame that this square has not as yet assumed a fine appearance to match all the rest in town on account of its municipality

The market for comp produce from the North of the Province has been established on these west of cordon the square is still usually full of hackney carts which destroy the roads, and give an untidy appearance to the place

The neighbouring house proprietors have presented themselves stating that they will plant trees, fence in at their own expense provided the market is removed further off, and they, await as all other useful thing in the country the decision of the Municipality that the produce markets be removed further out.

Les Débats sur la Capitale.

DISCOURS DU MINISTRE DU GOUVERNEMENT.

Nous avons assisté à un discours dont les vues élevées sont faites pour gagner les sympathies de tout véritable patriote. Les Argentins ont certainement lieu de se féliciter de pouvoir compter les défenseurs de leur nationalité, les avocats de leur gran deur parmi les ministres du pouvoir, tandis que les rangs de l'opposition ne se grossissent que des partisans des privilèges pervicieux ou des immunités de chacun. Il est temps que cette fatale appuie d'un ordre de choses irrévocablement condamné se soumettent aux décrets de la raison et qu'ils se rédigent à voir l'étoile providentielle pâlir devant la grandeur nationale dont la consolidation est l'objet de tous les vœux.

La parole habile de l'honorable ministre a ramené à la question de tous les points de l'horizon où elle serait à périr, et l'a placée sur son véritable terrain. Par ses heureuses comparaisons avec les diverses confédérations mentionnées dans l'histoire, l'orateur a montré du doigt la faiblesse inhérente de ces sortes de Gouvernements, et a indiqué la nécessité d'élever une entité définitif caractéristique se reproduise dans la Confédération Argentine.

Nous ne disserrons pas ici les vices palpables de la Confédération Germanique, pas plus que nous ne dirons avec lui que jamais il ne s'est produit un phénomène aussi curieux que celui, dont le petit Anti-Capitaliste donne la triste exemple en ce moment, jamais, dirons nous, l'on n'a vu une ville entièrement qualifié pour le rôle auquel elle se trouve appelée repousser l'honneur de former la capitale d'un Empire naissant et plein d'avenir.

L'orateur comprend bien que cette question de Capitale est un cas de vie ou de mort pour le Gouvernement actuel et que dernier est, refoulé de Buenos Aires sur quelque point obscur de l'intérieur il perdra toute sa force d'action et d'initiative et deviendra le jouet de toutes les prétentions, de toutes les ambitions locales. En honorable Ministre a fait ressortir avec éloquence, la faiblesse des moyens dont disposent actuellement le Gouvernement et la nécessité de donner au Pouvoir une assiette forte et solide, en lui assignant un siége où il soit indépendant de toute influence locale, et où il puisse me existence énergique et stable, que la ville de Buenos Aires est seule capable de lui communiquer.

Ce point une fois acquis, l'orateur a passé aux premiers par qu'elle doit lutter avec ses guides; et les grands peuples sont jamais, au début de leur carrière, marchandé à leurs chefs la part légitime d'autorité que leur mission exige impérieusement.

Que les représentans de la Province suivent l'exemple héroïque que la Noblesse française a donné dans la nuit du 4 Août 1790, et qu'ils fassent le sacrifice de leurs titres et de leurs privilèges sur l'autel de la patrie commune.

Le Débat n'a pas voulu donner ce que nous croyons le vrai public et la capitale n'accepte accès à l'aventure par le rejet de la loi de la Fédéralisation.

L'Enseignement public dans la Plata.

Dans notre dernier numéro, nous avons publié une lettre de Mendoza, contenant quelques observations très judicieuses sur l'état de l'enseignement à Buenos Ayres. Nous avons accueilli les réflexions de notre correspondant avec d'autant plus de plaisir que nous partageons complètement ses vues sur cet important sujet. Tout étranger, à la lecture de l'article de la Constitution qui déclare l'instruction, libre, admirera en effet la latitude dont jouissent les Argentins, en ce qui touche la culture de l'esprit et la nourriture du Pâtre, mais il s'étonnera d'un autre côté de voir l'apathie qui règne de la part des autorités publiques, le peu de discernement avec lequel ils sont appliqués les moyens mis à leur disposition, et en voyant ce droit d'instruire la jeunesse rejeté aux mains du Pignorant et du savant sans distinction, il se demandera si les écoles d'un lui acquièrent cet avantage ou que l'incapacité du Pâtre le lui ravisse! Cela n'est pourtant pas tout à fait une affaire que l'éducation ou l'instruction de Pâtre dépendent du bon plaisir des autorités existantes et la société apprend plus tard à ses dépens au prix de quelle abnégation elle doit se résigner à voir le développement de toute la somme intellectuelle que contient chacun de ses membres.

Il est certes évident que la lettre de la Constitution n'a pas été suscrite par la main qui lui a dicté l'esprit de cette même loi; et c'est il pas aussi évident que le législateur n'entendait pas qu'un seul et même individu pût être à la fois Pâtre et Pâtre, Pâtre et Pâtre, Pâtre et Pâtre,

ENGLISH SEMINARY,
For Young Ladies,
Tamores No. 7.

The undersigned begs leave to announce to the public that, from the first of September the female branch of the English Seminary will be removed to the new and spacious building No. 7, calle Tucuman, where with the very superior accommodation for boarders, half boarders, and day-scholars, and an increased staff of very competent teachers, the system of education will be carried on with such eminent success, will be vigorously prosecuted.

Miss M. McLean, for some years principal teacher in the English Seminary, will have the co-direction of the new establishment.

The constant endeavour of the principal will be, to give a thorough English education, combining moral with mental culture, and practically preparing the young ladies for their future position and responsabilities.

The undersigned is happy in having secured the professional services of Mrs. Davis recently arrived from England, whose accomplishments eminently fit her for the instruction of music, etc, and the superintendance of the boarders. A French resident teacher will also be provided, and the higher branches taught by qualified professors.

To parents in the camp who desire to secure a home to their daughters where they will enjoy most of the advantages offered by first-rate boarding schools in England and the United States, the above establishment offers unique advantages.

A prospectus will be forwarded to any part of the city or country on application
